Roses in the valley's shade
Hang their heads and quickly fade,
When their leaves are shivering
'Neath the wintry boughs,
But a little rugged flow'r,
Reared afar from beauty's bower,
Holds her sway on hilly tow'r,
My pretty mountain rose
Sweet little flow'r of rosy hue.
Kiss'd by the tears of Heav'n, the dew,
Symbol of love, far, far above,
Pretty mountain rose.

CHORUS.

Other flow'rs may droop and die,
But the rose on mountain high,
Holds her sway till winter's nigh,
Pretty mountain rose.

Like the rose in valley's shade
Love will oft-times quickly fade,
When with sorrow waking
From its sweet repose,
But my love shall ever last,
Till the clouds have drifted past,
With'ring not 'neath chilling blast,
Just like the mountain rose
Then to my heart this rose I'll bring,
Nurse it with care, like flow'rs in spring,
Sweet tender love, from heav'n above,
Like the mountain rose.

Other flow'rs, etc.
